On Stratification within Chinese Deliberative Democracy

Jin Taijun   Zhang Zhenbo

Abstract: Deliberative democracy is committed to set up a platform and a mechanism for intersubjective equal communication instead of simplistically and crudely being represented. It is through this mechanism that deliberative democracy surpasses traditional democracy. As a paradigm of democracy, Chinese deliberative democracy should reshape an institutional basis by political construction at the top level, enhance subjective efficiency by policy making at the middle level, and blaze a practical path to deliberative democracy at the grass-roots level, to meet the demand for complicated governance of modern heterogeneous society.

Keywords: democratic construction; deliberative democracy; ways of construction
